Digital Marketing vs. Social Media

DIGITAL MARKETING – the umbrella

SEO • SEM • Email • Affiliate • Content Marketing • Blogs • Webinars • Podcasts • Social Media

SOCIAL MEDIA MARKETING – one specialised subset

TikTok • Instagram • Facebook • X/Twitter • Pinterest — only what happens inside them

Digital marketing formats

Long-form blogs, automated email sequences, webinars, landing pages

Social media formats

Short-form video, carousels, photo posts, stories, polls, quizzes

BEFORE YOU POST ANYTHING

How to Build a Marketing Strategy

Personal Branding for the Marketer

Clients hire marketers whose own presence proves they can do the job — your profile is your biggest portfolio piece.

- Post your process, not just finished results
- Show client outcomes (with permission)
- Pick 1-2 platforms and stay consistent
- Keep a simple portfolio link ready to share

Why It Matters

Founders and marketers who are visible online build trust faster than a polished but faceless brand page. The same rule you'll use for clients — be the face, tell the story — applies to building your own client pipeline.

Your personal brand is the first campaign you should ever run.

Every Business Has Two Storefronts

The Physical Storefront

The duka — the brick-and-mortar shop customers can walk into, touch products, and buy in person.

Most customers now check the digital catalog first — before ever walking in.

The Digital Storefront

The website or online catalog customers research before ever visiting — or instead of visiting — in person.

Example: Kenyan brands like Muscati grew by driving traffic from social straight into their online catalog.

The 80/20 Content Rule

80% — Value Content

Educate, inspire, or entertain to build visibility and trust before you ever ask for a sale.

20% — Direct Pitching

Reserve the minority of posts for selling directly.

Aim for 3+ videos daily, varied angles — not static, unengaging photos.

Storytelling & Founder-Led Content

✗ Flat Product Post

"Come and buy" – static photo, generic caption, no context.

Fails to connect — audiences scroll past without a reason to care.

✓ Real-World Story

"Watch these headphones block out a busy café" – use case in action.

Founders on camera build authentic trust — and don't disappear when a hired creator moves on.

Paid Advertising: Budget & Targeting

Organic reach takes time. Paid ads via Google and Meta accelerate targeted traffic — but only when spent with intent.

Google Ads

Captures search intent — shows up when people are already looking to buy.

Meta Ads

Facebook, Instagram, and Threads — built for awareness and discovery.

Set a Real Budget

Allocate monthly spend deliberately across awareness, traffic, conversions.

⚡ Stop "boosting" posts.

A boosted post spends money with no real targeting strategy. A structured campaign — built around a specific goal — puts the same budget in front of the right audience.

What Is Meta Advantage+?

Meta's AI automation suite inside Ads Manager. Since a Feb 2026 overhaul, it's the default — not an opt-in — for Sales, Leads, and App campaigns.

Creative is now the main lever you still meaningfully control.

Using Advantage+ Correctly

All four launch ON by default. The real skill is knowing when to deliberately turn one off.

AU

Audience

✓ ON Keep ON: lets Meta expand past your targeting using real conversion signal — usually finds cheaper results.

✗ OFF Turn OFF: when you need a hard boundary — brand safety, or a tightly scoped B2B audience.

PL

Placements

✓ ON Keep ON: broad delivery across Feed, Reels, and Stories finds the cheapest impressions.

✗ OFF Turn OFF: only for compliance reasons, or when your creative format doesn't fit a surface.

CB

Campaign Budget

✓ ON Keep ON: Meta shifts spend in real time toward whichever ad set is converting.

✗ OFF Turn OFF: when a specific test or audience segment needs a guaranteed minimum spend.

CR

Creative

✓ ON Keep ON: when performance matters more than pixel-perfect control — let Meta test crops & enhancements.

✗ OFF Turn OFF: when brand style must stay exactly as designed — tightly controlled visual identity work.

Optimized Websites for Conversion

Static Placeholder Site

- ✗ No clear product catalog
- ✗ No obvious next step for visitors
- ✗ Rarely updated

Conversion-Ready Site

- ✓ Clear, browsable product catalog
- ✓ Guides visitors toward a purchase
- ✓ Dynamic — updated as offers change

Paid traffic sent to a weak site is wasted spend — the landing page carries the conversion.

AI in Content Creation & Research

Value & Volume

AI helps you produce more high-quality content, more consistently, without burning out.

Overcoming Creative Block

Stuck for an idea? AI is a fast, reliable ideation partner when you've run dry.

Essential Tool Stack

Data Analysis & Performance Reporting

The Typical Funnel Drop-Off

From Numbers to Next Steps

- Read native analytics on every platform
- Use AI (e.g. ChatGPT) to synthesize data fast
- Turn each report into one clear action
- Track trends over time, not single-post outliers

What Real Management Looks Like

Community Management

Responding to comments and DMs, not just publishing

Reputation Monitoring

Tracking what audiences are saying about the brand

Audience Engagement

Building relationships, not just broadcasting

Strategic Optimization

Finding gaps and better ways to improve conversion

Managing Expectations

Organic growth takes time.

A few weeks of posting will not produce immediate sales. Consistency compounds over months, not days — set that expectation before day one.

Paid ads close the gap.

If a business needs faster results, that's what a real ad budget is for — not a substitute for organic, but an accelerant alongside it.

Key Takeaways

Strategy first

goal → audience → channels → content → budget → measure

80/20 content

value over pitching — and be the face of your brand

Pair organic + paid

consistency plus intentional, budgeted ad spend

Let AI multiply output

it doesn't replace your judgment

Report weekly

turn every number into one next action
